The screenshot shows a code editor window with the file 'my-account.php' open. The code is a PHP script with embedded HTML and CSS. It includes sections for password input, a submit button, and form validation. It also includes includes for sidebar and slider files. The code uses Bootstrap and jQuery libraries. A script block at the bottom handles theme switching and window load events.

A screenshot of a code editor window titled "pending-orders.php". The code is written in PHP and includes a jQuery script. The script binds the "load" event to the window, which triggers a function. This function selects an element with the class ".show-theme-options", delays for 2000 milliseconds, and then triggers a "click" event on it. A note at the bottom indicates this is for demo purposes and can be removed in production. The code is numbered from 209 to 217.
